

Sagi Itcher

Sagi Itcher is an Economic Consul, Head of the Economic and Trade mission at the Consulate General of Israel, Mumbai.

Itcher is responsible for promoting Israeli companies in India from all sectors. His work varies from allowing and supporting trade and export into the Indian market, attracting and encouraging Indian investments in Israeli startups, assisting in building successful trade partnerships and joint ventures in India.

Before taking on this position, he was manager of the Indian desk at Ministry of Economy and Industry, Government of Israel. While working closely with the Israeli and Indian private sectors, he was in charge of ministry's relations with the International Financial Institutions: World Bank, IFC and ADB (Asian Development Bank).

In his former positions, he was the chief of staff for Deputy DG, at Ministry of Economy. As the key-person, Itcher was responsible to execute different projects and schemes from digitalizing the organization human resources data base to managing internal committees. He worked directly with the Minister of Economy and Industry office, DG office and Israeli parliament members.

Before becoming a public servant, Itcher worked for a few consultant companies in Israel, focusing on providing services to governmental and municipal entities.

Itcher have a M.B.A from Ono Academic College and a Bachelor in the History of the Middle East and Islam from the Hebrew University in Jerusalem.